Jackery Explorer 500 Power Supply

The Jackery Explorer 500 is designed to provide portable power wherever it's needed. Its 500-watt-hour battery holds enough power to charge your smartphone at least 40 times, your laptop up to six times and is powerful enough to run small appliances. The Explorer can be fully recharged in six hours using an AC outlet or seven hours with the optional solar panel in full sun. At just 12X9.8X6.5 inches, this 12.45-pound lifesaver has a peak capacity of 500Wh. Output ports include one each DC car port, DC out, USB and 110AC.

MSRP: $599.99

Streamlight TL-Racker Shotgun Light

Streamlight now offers an integrated shotgun forend light for use with popular Mossberg and Remington models. Elongated switch pads on both sides enable anyone to activate momentary and constant-on functions. The light puts out 860 lumens for one hour using two included CR123A batteries. Ready for almost any environment, the TL-Racker is water resistant to IPX4 standards and its impact-resistant nylon body is virtually indestructible. Its overall length is 7.94 inches, and it weighs 10.7 ounces.

Outdoor Vitals Stormloft Down Topquilt

When Outdoor Vitals decided to create a top quilt, it wanted to offer something that would be extremely light, durable and—above all—warm. The Stormloft series of top quilts combines ultralight, water-resistant nylon shells with the company's premium 800-fill power Stormloft water-repellent down. The proprietary baffle system assures that your insulation stays where it needs to be to provide maximum warmth and comfort. This model is rated to 15 degrees (F), but other models are available for warmer and cooler weather. This model comes in two sizes: regular (up to 7 feet) and long/wide (up to 6 feet, 6 inches) with 1 pound, 7 ounces and 1 pound, 10 ounces of fill, respectively.

MSRP: Starting at $214.97

Luna Mono 2.0 Sandals

The company owner began making Luna sandals after spending time with the Mexican Tarahumara tribe. The members of this tribe are famous for their extreme long-distance running ability and fashion their own footwear from used tires. The Mono 2.0 is the latest update to Luna's most popular Mono. The thin Vibram soles provide plenty of traction, while the Monkey Grip Technology footbed molds to your foot to create an extremely stable, comfortable platform that is capable of tackling almost any terrain. I have used Luna sandals for years and wouldn't be caught without them.
